STUDY A UNIQUE DEGREE

Did you know that we offer South Australia's only psychology degree in cognitive neuroscience, which explores the neural connections in the brain and the way we process and interpret information? We also offer unique degrees that specialise in areas like ageing and disability or counselling and interpersonal skills. Learning alongside experienced practitioners and teaching staff, you will develop the knowledge and skills to help people thrive, solve complex problems and support the overall wellbeing of individuals, families, carers and communities.

GO BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

When you study a degree in psychology, social work or human services at UniSA, your studies will go beyond the classroom. You will have opportunities to immediately apply your learnings to real-world environments while building your professional networks and connecting with industry. Complete fieldwork or a placement, or collaborate with industry on cutting-edge research projects. Postgraduate students can also gain practical experience in our on-campus Psychology Clinic, where you will treat real patients under the supervision of qualified clinical psychologists and develop skills in a range of therapeutic practices.

DOUBLE YOUR KNOWLEDGE

Enhance your learning and career opportunities by studying a double degree. Combine your psychology qualification with a second discipline in areas like law, human resource management, exercise and sport science or human services. Examine human behaviour and its application in different environments, broadening your knowledge and expertise.

Get real experience through fieldwork, placements and research projects during your degree.

Did you know? Postgraduate students can learn in our on-campus Psychology Clinic and treat members of the community.

"The practical application of your study is an amazing way to gain the kind of skills that benefit the whole service ecosystem; a fantastic way to learn while you contribute."

WELL ABOVE WORLD-CLASS RESEARCH IN PSYCHOLOGY

2018 Excellence in Research for Australia (ERA).

STAND FOR SOCIAL CHANGE

We offer specialised social science degrees in ageing and disability or human services that are recognised by industry. Develop the skills to support individuals, families and carers involved with the elderly and people living with disabilities, or those who have experienced personal or social difficulties.

Learn to navigate the Australian National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS), explore ethical practice and discover how to enhance services within the sector; or delve into the world of human services and understand how behaviour is affected by cultural, environmental, psychological and political factors – and what you can do to have a meaningful impact.

Graduate with more than 500 hours of placement experience and be part of the next generation of social change.

ENGAGE IN GROUNDBREAKING RESEARCH

During your studies, you can get involved with fascinating research projects conducted at the Behaviour-Brain-Body Research Centre located on campus. This research group combines expertise in sleep, nutrition and physical activity, and explores a diverse range of topics such as the effects of sleep on human performance, cognitive decline and links to dementia, as well as fatigue management and reducing risks with shift workers.

CONNECT WITH REAL PEOPLE

UniSA runs a Psychology Clinic that provides affordable services to the community. Based at Magill Campus, postgraduate clinical psychology students learn to provide high quality therapeutic services to real patients under the guidance of fully qualified and practising clinical psychologists.

You can gain valuable experience in helping people to overcome difficulties by building the tools they need to thrive, and explore critical areas of mental health like anxiety, depression, eating disorders, PTSD, insomnia and behavioural issues in children.

DISCOVER OUR ABORIGINAL EMPLOYMENT PATHWAYS

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students who are studying a degree in psychology, social work or human services are able to engage in paid work during their studies through a unique partnership with SYC – a not-for-profit organisation that invests in the community by helping people with housing, education and employment. Students can apply their learnings and gain valuable experience with the possibility of continuing employment after graduation.

NEW WINDOW TO THE SOUL

It's often said that the eyes are the window to the soul, revealing our thoughts and feelings. Now, new research reveals that your eyes may also be an indicator of your personality type, simply by the way they move.

A study by UniSA researchers, in collaboration with international partners, is using state-of-the-art machine-learning algorithms to demonstrate a link between personality and eye movements, with findings showing that eye movement can tell whether people are sociable, conscientious or curious.

The study delivers important insights for social robotics, and its findings could help to improve interaction between humans and machines, making robots and computers more natural and better at interpreting human social signals.

With automation in customer service industries on the rise, these findings could lead to improved personalised services and more authentic interactions with machines.

"My job is to ensure that students are ready to support diverse people living with disability or experiencing ageing. It's important to develop the right skills to help build family leadership, valued social roles, person centred services and social inclusion, so that individuals, families and communities can live more enriching lives."

Caroline Ellison | Program Director: Social Science (Ageing and Disability)

“Further study qualified me to work in an allied health professional stream in government – it helped to diversify my career options and I’m so glad I did it. My role is focused on working with young offenders and their families to try and reduce offending behaviour, and includes making home visits, attending court and writing court reports. I enjoy helping young people strive to make positive choices, which can have significant long-term outcomes.”
